The voice of animals

The animals of India have a big friend in advocate Siddh Vidya. She is committed to the welfare of stray dogs, cats, cows, etc. and does everything that she can to uphold the rights of these creatures. Whether it is a Navi Mumbai housing society opposing the feeding of strays or mass slaughter of buffaloes in West Bengal, she is ready to move the police and courts to ensure justice for animals. A soft-spoken woman with a pleasant demeanour, she fights uncompromisingly for those who cannot speak.
